

Finnish Fiber Optic Patch Cord Manufacturer

AI Overview

Key Finnish manufacturers of fiber optic patch cords include Naficon Liitin Oy, Nestor Cables, Bevenic Oy, and Fiber Highway Finland Oy. Notable Manufacturers Naficon Liitin Oy specializes in passive fiber optic products, including pigtailed, patch cords, and multifiber cables. With over 30 years of experience, the company is recognized for high-quality, customer-focused solutions and serves clients across Finland from its base in Nauvo. Nestor Cables offers a wide range of fiber optic cables and connectivity accessories, including patch panels and joint closures. Their NesCon product family ensures comprehensive solutions for modern communication networks, making them a key player in Finnish fiber optic manufacturing. Bevenic Oy is a Nordic contract manufacturer with over 30 years of experience in optical fibers and components, providing customized services from design to production. They emphasize certified quality and are capable of producing specialized fiber optic assemblies. Fiber Highway Finland Oy focuses on telecommunications and fiber optic technology, offering cabling, connectivity, and certified testing services for data centers. They provide high-security solutions suitable for international service providers and large-scale network projects. Additional Providers Other Finnish companies involved in fiber optic solutions include Crimppi, which manufactures plastic optical fiber cables and industrial optical fiber assemblies, and OptoFidelity, which provides high-precision measurement and testing solutions relevant to fiber optic production. These manufacturers collectively cover a broad spectrum of fiber optic patch cord needs, from standard LAN connections to high-durability armored cables, supporting both domestic and international telecommunications infrastructure. Choosing a manufacturer depends on your specific requirements, such as fiber type...
