

High-density construction site electrical distribution box manufacturer

AI Overview

Leading manufacturers for high-density construction site electrical distribution boxes include Wieland, SKKBO, Elektra, and Yueqing Beigang, offering robust, modular, and certified solutions for industrial and commercial projects.

Key Manufacturers and Offerings

- 1. Wieland Electric Wieland provides decentralized and pluggable distribution boxes suitable for high-demand construction environments. Their boxes support power, signal, and data distribution, and are designed for harsh conditions including moisture exposure. They comply with IEC 61439 and IEC 61535, offering flexible installation, ventilation for heat dissipation, and modular configurations for smart building applications.
- 2. SKKBO SKKBO specializes in customized electrical boxes with over 20 years of experience. Their products are certified with UL, CE, IP, IK, and CCC, and they offer tailored solutions for indoor and outdoor construction sites. SKKBO emphasizes plug-in and pre-wired options, allowing high-density installations with easy configuration and rapid deployment.
- 3. Elektra Tailfingen Elektra manufactures construction site current distributors with high safety standards and long service life. Their plastic housings feature cross-divided inlet/outlet openings and folding strain relief clamps, reducing connection time by up to 50%. Flip-up covers for fuses and meters enhance safety and accessibility, making them suitable for high-density, modular setups.
- 4. Yueqing Beigang Industrial Socket Distribution Box Yueqing Beigang offers plug-in distribution boxes with built-in circuit breakers, adaptable to indoor and outdoor environments. They provide different protection levels, current and voltage displays, and power indicators, ensuring safe and convenient operation. These boxes are designed for industrial, commercial, and outdoor construction applications, supporting high-density electrical distribution.
