

Iranian Electricity Meter and Distribution Box Installation Manufacturer

AI Overview

Key Iranian manufacturers include Emen Ista Electric Co. (EISECO), Behineh Sazan Toos (BSTC), Sherkat-e-Kontorsazi-e-Iran (SKI), and Adak Behin Niroo, covering meters, smart meters, and electrical distribution panels. Emen Ista Electric Co. (EISECO) Emen Ista Electric Company specializes in electrical panels, junction boxes, and composite inspection covers using the SMC (Sheet Molding Compound) method. Part of Nikan Holding, EISECO has been active in Iran's electricity and water infrastructure sectors, producing durable, corrosion-resistant panels suitable for high-humidity environments. Their expertise extends to projects in electricity, water, and sewage systems across various provinces in Iran, emphasizing infrastructure quality and service standards. Behineh Sazan Toos (BSTC) Founded in 2007 in Mashhad, BSTC manufactures multi-tariff electronic meters and modems. The company produces over 3.7 million units annually, with ISO 9001-2015 certification and compliance with IEC standards and DLMS protocol. BSTC provides 5-year guarantees and 20-year after-sales service, supporting 39 Electric Distribution Companies in Iran. They were the first to implement Advanced Metering Infrastructure (AMI) in Iran, focusing on intelligent metering, energy loss reduction, and consumption optimization. Sherkat-e-Kontorsazi-e-Iran (SKI) Established in the 1960s as a joint venture with A.E.G. Germany, SKI is one of the largest electricity meter manufacturers in the Middle East. With over 1,200 employees, SKI produces Poly-Phase (commercial/industrial) and Single-Phase (residential) electronic meters, holding 80% and 60% market shares respectively. The company was privatized in 2008 and continues to lead in electronic meter manufacturing, offering a wide range of high-quality products.
