

Price List for Durable Fiber Optic Sensors

AI Overview

High-quality fiber optic sensors range from approximately $29 for basic models to several hundred dollars for advanced industrial or distributed sensing systems, with prices varying by type, manufacturer, and application. Supplier Options and Pricing Mouser Electronics offers a wide inventory of fiber optic sensors with datasheets and pricing available online, suitable for industrial, laboratory, and automation applications. Prices vary depending on sensor type, with standard point sensors typically starting around $50–$100. Alibaba lists bulk fiber optic sensors starting at $29.42 per unit, including models like Keyence FS-N11CP and V2RF-N Fastus proximity switch sensors, ideal for resale or large-scale deployment. Bulk orders often reduce per-unit cost. Newark Electronics provides fast quotes, same-day dispatch, and technical support, with pricing dependent on sensor specifications and quantity. RP Photonics highlights specialized sensors for temperature, strain, pressure, displacement, acceleration, and humidity, including distributed sensing systems for structural health monitoring, aerospace, and oil & gas applications. Prices for these high-end sensors can range from hundreds to thousands of dollars, reflecting their advanced capabilities. Photonics Buyers' Guide lists over 70 manufacturers and suppliers, including Baumer Ltd. and O/E Land Inc., offering a variety of fiber optic sensors, assemblies, and accessories. Pricing varies widely depending on sensor type, wavelength range, and application requirements. Factors Affecting Price

Sensor Type: Intrinsic sensors (fiber itself is sensing element) and extrinsic sensors (fiber transmits light to a sensing element) differ in cost.

Measurement Capability: Point sensors are generally less expensive than distributed sensors, which provide continuous monitoring along the fiber length.

Application Environment: Sensors designed for harsh environments (high voltage, downhole oil wells, aerospace composites) command higher prices.
